

Pittsburgh's Premiere Program of:

Grandmothers as Keepers of Wisdom

Presenting Grandmother Margaret Behan (Red Spider Woman) of the International Council of 13 Indigenous Grandmothers

Grandmother Margaret is of Arapahoe-Cheyenne lineage, a published author, teacher, and an accomplished potter and sculptor. She is founder of the Cheyenne Council of Elders. Her interest is in cross-cultural trauma.

The Grandmothers are women of prayer and action from five continents, mobilizing the world toward peace, social justice and sustainability. Learn more at: www.grandmotherscouncil.org

Friday, November 21, 2008, 6:30 pm

at The Episcopal Church of the Redeemer,

5700 Forbes Avenue, Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, PA 15217, between Murray and Wightman

TOPIC: Resilience and Cross-Cultural Trauma

Facilitated by Vikki Hanchin, LCSW.

Hosted by "Roots of Promise" of the Thomas Merton Center;

Sponsored by The Green Bough Holistic Center

6:30pm Reception with entertainment by the Pittsburgh Raging Grannies

7:00pm Interactive video conference with Grandmother Margaret

Group or Individual Advance Tickets are $10/person

Contact: Wanda Guthrie at 412-596-0066 or rootsofpromise@gmail.com

Door tickets will be $15 (as available). Space is limited, register early.

"Grandmothers as Keepers of Wisdom" is a pilot project connecting the community and organizations that have transformational missions (such as social justice, peace and sustainability), with one of the Council Grandmothers, in a live, interactive broadcast for a wisdom conversation.

For more information regarding the "Grandmothers as Keepers of Wisdom" Project, contact Vikki Hanchin at 412-241-7001

